Creative Impact and National Arts in Education Week

The 3rd annual Bay Area National Arts in Education Week is September 8–14, 2013. The second week of September is designated by the US House of Representatives as a time to celebrate how "arts education, comprising a rich array of disciplines, including dance, music, theatre, media arts, literature, design, and visual arts, is a core academic subject and an essential element of a complete and balanced education for all students."

The week-long Bay Area celebration, titled Creative Impact, provides a central platform to unite the Bay Area arts and education communities around a shared vision for the success of each and every child through the wealth of creative experiences and arts learning opportunities available to individuals, families, and communities throughout the year.

Creative Impact is an alliance of arts and education organizations, individuals and communities across the greater Bay Area dedicated to strengthening and enriching the social fabric of our community through arts education. See the back of this program for a list of the 42 partner organizations.
